

From: Michael <michael@theyfly.com>
Date: January 6, 2005 7:54:30 PM PST
To: SKEPTICMAG@aol.com, Kramer <kramer@randi.org>, JREF <challenge@randi.org>, derek@iigwest.com, Vaughn Rees <Vaughn@cfiwest.org>, James Underdown <jim@cfiwest.org>
Subject: Gotta love 'em!

Hi Dan,

Thanks for writing. I'll insert my comments below.

Hi

I have read your article on the web finally exposing the empty vessels making all sorts of barking noises debunking the Meier case for what they really are. Excellent show Michael. I really have had a roaring good laugh at the utter failure of the individual one Mr. Rees who could not put his claims and all the money and technology where his mouth was. Clear case of defamation and he should be prosecuted.

Yes, indeed the "professional skeptics". While Mr. Rees is a nice fellow, he's simply on the wrong side of reality as far as the Meier case goes and hopelessly over his head. Had any of these fellows a real clue as to what is going on, and the integrity to admit that they are simply wrong and unable to discredit the case, they might actually earn some respect and be considered scientific, instead of religious, in their approach. When Mr. Rees refused Art Bell's (and my) request to submit their quaint little photos of a model UFO to the same standards of testing that Meier's pictures were, they terminally torpedoed any credibility that they might have had.

From the first time I read of and then investigated the Meier case(at the amateur level) I just knew deep down that there was a truth in it, and, by the way I am a highly educated scientist that believes in the scientific method of investigation.

I had that same sense of "knowing" but, of course, didn't base my conclusions regarding the case's authenticity on it, as I'm sure you didn't. I've been researching the case and its evidence for over 25 years and there's no doubt now that it's authentic..in the mind of any rational person who has considered all the evidence and the spectacular failure of the skeptics to even duplicate one of Meier's photos. It's important to remember that they specialize in debunking and showing how frauds are perpetrated and that they agreed to duplicate Meier's photos and his film, which of course they haven't in the past four years since they accepted my challenge.

Movies of the "beamships" which I obtained while at school in NY on VHS are, to the discerning and open sentient individual, far more authentic at face value than some of the most highly produced sci-fi films coming out of hollywood.

I not only agree but got the same affirmation of that from the owners of an Academy Award-winning special effects studio in Los Angeles. They actually laughed at Mr. Rees' attempt to explain two flashing lights on a UFO, that Meier filmed in broad daylight, which he said was effected by "scratching the negative with a pin". They also said that it would probably require computer generated imagery to attempt to duplicate those films...something clearly not available to Meier in the 1979s.

I have a few questions:

is there a way I can purchase video of the Meier movies such as the one seen in the shirley McClaine site ( I had copies that I bought at a video store in NY but my evangelical mother burnt them at the stake in the name of Jesus & etc)?

Praise the Lord! Ooops, yes, you'll find the videos at: www.theyfly.com.

Is it safe to say human survival at the individual level ( aside from changing how mean we are to one another) might also entail becoming vegetarian if the "prohecy" that more animals we eat will become infected with mad cow?

Not so funny thing is that the Plejaren also recommended against vegetarianism stating that it really wasn't a very healthful path for most (but not all) humans. Then again, everything on the planet is now contaminated in one way or another. The Plejaren also told Meier that the British government secretly let many of the contaminated cow carcasses be processed into animal feed meal and shipped worldwide...all for the buck (pound sterling) of course. Not to be too glum about it but we're in a bit of a mess and it's all a gamble to some degree.

Did you see the footage of the couple in the helicopter who in July 2000 taped a UFO encounter in front of the pre 911 WTC twin towers? Amazing stuff, sound and all. Noises from the usual skeptics aside-- what did people make of it. At that time I was in Africa and heard nothing of it until very recently.

Actually, I had heard that it was a hoax. I don't know for sure one way or the other. I'm actually not that interested in the UFO stuff as much as the content of the case (and the Meier case seems to be the only content-heavy one around, and still ongoing for 63 years.

Also, did you see the new article regarding the connection between earthquakes and petroleum extraction on my site?

I like to send copies of emails that sing the praises of the skeptics to those folks but I'll do so without including your name and contact info.

Best,

MH

Thanks for your time

sincere,